SUBMARINE WARFARE RESUMED

War News Heads Like Repetition of Events Six Months Ago; Developments Are Slow in Balkans, But the French Have Not Yet Taken Vele.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—An acute revival of the submarine issue, chiefly in the Mediterranean, accompanied by a general offensive activity by the Russians on the eastern front makes the war news read today like a repetition of history six months old.

Along the southern extremity of the Russian line to the west of Curatyski, where desperate battles have been under way for several weeks, the Russians claim a considerable success, which is said to have resulted in breaking the Austro-German line and to have culminated in a retreat, during which numbers of fleeing soldiers were drowned, in addition to leaving 2,000 Austro-German troops as prisoners.

In the Higa area, the Russians maintain they are more than holding their own. West of Higa the Russians have consolidated the positions they recently won and claim to be the occupants of several villages which had been in the hands of the invaders.

Less change is reported from the Balkan front than at any time since the new campaign began. It is now definitely established that the French are not in possession of the Serbian town of Vele, a daring cavalry raid, which apparently reached at least the environs of the place, being reported by the Germans as a report that the town had been wrested from the hands of the Bulgarians.

It is unofficially reported that both wings of the Bulgarian forces invading Macedonia are menaced by the Anglo-French advance, while the Serbians are said to have resumed the offensive in the region of Dubina Pass, where they recently won an important success. The Bulgarians are making a stand there and it also is reported that they have established complete communications with the French.

This report, if true, insures the temporary safety of Monastir, where a condition approaching panic has been prevailing.

London newspapers continue to devote much space to the sinking of the Italian steamship Ancona. Many of them editorially express the opinion that the attacking boat was a German submarine and they arrive at the usual conclusion that the United States is more concerned in seeking reparation than any other nation.

HUNGARIANS CROSS MORAVA RIVER AT SEVERAL POINTS
BUDAPEST, Nov. 11.—Hungarian troops commanded by General Bolyndjes, have crossed the Morava river in Serbia at several places, according to the official statement issued today at German army headquarters. In the region south of the river Morava, the statement adds, 1,000 Serbians have been taken.

German troops have systematically excavated the forest district to the west and southwest of Shik, west of Higa because it has been transformed into swamp by the rains, says the official announcement today.

HEAVY FOG PREVENTS OPERATIONS IN SERBIA
PARIS, Nov. 11.—A dispatch from Saloniki under date of Wednesday says:

"The Bulgarians have retired from Patina and have concentrated before the French front around Cerma. It is a heavy fog that has prevented operations for the last 24 hours.

"The Serbians are attacking Katchank from the north and have captured the station.

"Tetova has changed hands several times in violent fighting. It is now held by the Bulgarians."

HEAVY CANNONADING IN BALTIC SEEN, KAR FHEIMANN COPENHAGEN, Nov. 11.—A cannonading of terrific intensity was heard yesterday in the neighborhood of the Helmsen belt in the Baltic sea. It is believed by those who heard it to have been the result of a British submarine attacking a German squadron.

The firing lasted 20 minutes and was of such violence that the doors and windows of the rocky harbor were opened. Houses vibrated as though in an earthquake. The weather was so thick it was impossible to observe any of the details of the engagement.

SERBIAN DESTINIES IN THE HANDS OF PUTNIK,
COMMANDER IN CHIEF

GENERAL PUTNIK

"Field Marshal Radomir Putnik, commander in chief of the Serbian army, which is retreating the Teuton and Bulgarian advance, is one of the commanding figures of the war," says a correspondent. "Just three years ago I saw him leading to victory against the Turks that line army of which he was the creator. He was the pride and encouragement of the Serbian soldiers, but now he is sixty-eight—has worked a difference since those days of triumph. The soldier sees his no more. Suffering from acute asthma, he is forced to keep to a heated room, but illness has not lessened the tremendous mental energy of this master soldier."

SUBMARINES DROVE OFF
RESCUING SHIP IS CLAIMEDAncona's Officer Declares Unknown
Vessel Was Prevented from Picking Up Survivors of Liner.

By Associated Press.
CAPE HON, Turk, via Paris, Nov. 11.—One of the Ancona's officers, named Salvemini, says that toward noon he sighted two submarines which by reason of the submarine's stern, a thick fog and the reduced speed of the liner, were able to approach unobserved. The nearest submarine was about 300 feet long and carried a single gun on her bow and stern. The other submarine drew across the Ancona's bow to prevent any attempt to escape. Continuing the Ancona's officer says:

"At the first shot the captain of the Ancona ordered out the boats. The eighth boat hardly had touched the water when the liner sank by the bow, engulfing the remainder of the passengers and crew, who had taken refuge on the poop deck."

"The eight boats, keeping together, steered on a southerly course. After some distance they sighted a ship with her lights out. The searchlighted flares and the ship approached them, but the submarines, which were following, turned their searchlights upon her and she abruptly changed her course and disappeared in the night."

"The boats then separated. Twenty-four persons were landed at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning on the Cape Hon peninsula where they were taken in by the European inhabitants."

NAPLES, Italy, via Paris, Nov. 11.—Another boat with 27 survivors of the Ancona has reached Cape Hon, Tunis. The names of the occupants of the boat have not yet been received.

Pasquale Laurino, an American citizen, is among the missing passengers of the Ancona, according to information obtained here today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The State Department received a cablegram from American Consul White in Naples today, saying that the Societa Italia says 347 passengers and crew of the Ancona are reported as saved out of 104, and that the consular officials believe that more will be reported saved. The department also received a message from Ambassador Page at Rome and is yet unable to determine how many Americans were lost. It is entirely without official advice as to the nationality of the submarine which sunk the ship. Dispatches from Malta, Bizerta, Rome and Naples all contain fragments of information.

Statements will be given from survivors wherever they may land and the United States is making all possible information before taking the matter up with any foreign government.

SCOTSDALE BANK
WILL BECOME A
TRUST COMPANYDesires of the Late Joseph
R. Stauffer are to be Carried out.

WILL HAVE $125,000 CAPITAL

Stock is Said to Have Been Over-Subscribed; Stockholders Will Meet in a Few Days to Formally Effect a Change in the Concern's Affairs.

Within a few days steps will be taken that will change in name but enlarge in its field of operations one of the oldest and most stable financial institutions in Scottdale. The Scottdale Bank will become a trust company, following out the request made by its founder, the late Joseph R. Stauffer. The bank will be reorganized as a trust company, with a capital of $125,000 and a surplus of $25,000.

A meeting of the subscribers are Scottdale people and a meeting of the stockholders will be held at an early date, and a temporary organization will be formed. The business will be continued in the rooms occupied by the bank, and the deposits and liabilities taken over night will cause the business to continue without the slightest interruption and with absolutely no inconvenience to the present customers. They will meet the same persons they do every day.

The heirs of the late Joseph R. Stauffer, for many years a dominant factor in the financial life of Westmoreland and Fayette counties are John M. Stauffer, W. R. Stauffer, De-Read Stauffer and Mrs. Eva S. Brown of Scottdale, and Mrs. Fannie Kelsor of Pittsburg.

The new concern will be new in name and in its more extensive field of operations and larger interests, in having many of its patrons directly interested in the new concern. The stockholders have now been taken up, and in fact more than taken up.

The Scottdale bank still carries the name of Joseph R. Stauffer as president, W. R. Stauffer, vice president; J. M. Stauffer, cashier; Charles S. Wiley and E. M. Newcomer, assistant cashiers. J. Edwards, auditor, bookkeeper, and Miss Charlotte Hay, stenographer.

The history of this institution has run parallel with the growth of the city of Scottdale. It was founded in 1842 by the late P. S. Loucks and Joseph R. Stauffer, these men doing business as the Scottdale Bank. Mr. Loucks died in 1877, and in 1906, Mr. Stauffer bought the interest of the Loucks heirs in the bank. In 1910 Mr. Stauffer died leaving the bank and his holdings as an exceedingly valuable property, with many large financial and industrial interests in view of this and the conserving of all these to the best advantage in line with the request made in the will of Mr. Stauffer, the bank was reorganized. These interests have all been preserved intact and since half of the allotted period of the trust estate has passed it becomes time, in the opinion of the heirs to adjust the affairs consistently further with the will, and to convert the bank into a trust company. The necessary steps have all been taken in order to bring this about.

The institution will continue its career with even greater success in the prophesy of all those who have seen the growth of the institution, and while not adding another financial institution to the town, will give one of wider scope and greater possibilities.

EXPECT LOWER RATES

Greensburg Residents Hope Water
Charges Will be Cut.

As a result of hearings before the state Public Service Commission in Greensburg this week in protest at the rates for water charged by the Westmoreland Water Company, attorneys for the prosecution predict that Greensburg and adjoining towns will get a reduction from 60 cents to 12 or 15 cents a thousand feet.

Evidence of loose bookkeeping and high financing by the various subsidizing companies of the Westmoreland Water Company were brought out by witnesses. A difference of opinion also exists as to the value of the company's plants. The company's experts once estimated it at $2,717,418.20, the state experts by reason of the Public Utility Commission, placed the value at $1,539,880.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE INSPECTED TO MAKE SAFETY SUREProperty Committee Carries
Out Wishes of Governor
Brumbaugh.

FIRE PROTECTION IS AIM

Directors Will See That Law Is Being Complied With and That Lives of Pupils Are Not Menaced; Fire Drills
Held Regularly in All Buildings.

Following the receipt this morning of a request from J. George Becht, secretary of the State Board of Education, members of the property committee of the school board began a special investigation of all school buildings to determine whether the law is being obeyed in regard to fire precautions.

At the result of two disastrous school fires lately, in which a number of children lost their lives, Governor Brumbaugh requested the State Board of Education to have a special investigation made in all districts. Superintendent S. H. Ashe received the request by mail this morning and immediately turned it over to the property committee.

It is said that all of the public school buildings within the city fulfill the requirements of the law. Those of more than two stories have fire escapes. All doors open outward, as required. The school directors will not inspect the Parochial school, which does not come within their jurisdiction, but there would be no need to. The Immaculate Conception parish recently erected the most modern school building within the city. It is not only fireproof, but was designed particularly with a view to the safety of pupils in event of fire. The corridors are wide and ample, and fire drills have proven that the structure can be emptied in a remarkably short time.

While some of the public school buildings are not particularly modern, they meet the requirements of the law. The school authorities here have also gone beyond the requirements of the statute, in holding fire drills in all buildings. The law requires such drills only in those buildings equipped with fire escapes.

LEGALLY DEAD

Orphans' Court Declares Hagans No Longer Alive.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Nov. 11.—Robert Hagans and Albert Hagans, who disappeared from their homes in Uniontown more than seven years ago, were legally declared to be dead in decrees handed down in orphans' court by Judge J. C. Eckert.

Applications for letters of administration in their estates were made several months ago, and advertisements were published asking persons who might know that they were living to communicate such information to the orphans' court. There was no evidence brought out that the men are living. Each is a beneficiary in the estate of the late Ellen Brownfield to a small extent.

Lindsay of Fairmont, was destroyed and contents badly mangled when it was run over by a locomotive on No. 6 of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad struck the suitcase just as it fell from a truck standing along the tracks. Two other articles, which had been in the suitcase, were recovered by the baggage master before being caught by the train. A large sample box belonging to a traveling salesman narrowly escaped being crushed, clothes, a razor and mug, and bags of tobacco were scattered all about. The suitcase was a total wreck, being cut into shreds. Lindsay was going to Acosta.

EXTEND TELEPHONE LINE.

West Penn Now Has Private Line Between Here and Pittsburg.

Connections made today at McKeesport will give the West Penn Telephone Company a private telephone line from Connellsville to Pittsburg. The extension is made possible through an agreement with the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone Company for services from McKeesport to Pittsburg. Local calls over the company line between here and Pittsburg were made through use of the public lines west of McKeesport.

The West Penn private telephone line throughout its system is very extensive and this present extension means complete private service.

Making Good Progress.
A rumor which was circulated in Greensburg to the effect that that section is not to get its much sought gas service, is scoffed at by those in a position to know. In the meantime the Greensburg Gas Company is continuing to lay its main throughout the town.

WEST PENN MEN ORGANIZE
TO PROMOTE SAFETY PLANSEncl. Department to Have an Association: Chicago Men Aroused Much Enthusiasm.

As a result of five different meetings of employees of as many departments of the West Penn yesterday, a safety organization will be formed to promote safety first work. Safety work will be carried on by the employees, hereafter, not by the company management.

This new idea in safety first work was outlined yesterday by George B. Scott and C. H. Reed, representatives of the Safety Bureau of Chicago. Mr. Scott addressed the five meetings and Mr. Reed explained the organization plans. It was the general verdict of all who heard the speakers that there is the most practical safety plan ever outlined here. Mr. Scott emphasized the fact that safety means more to the employees in the long run than to the company.

The first meeting held yesterday by the visitors was from 11 to 12 A. M. when the entire clerical force, male and female, were gathered together. From 1:30 to 2:30 P. M., the early crowd met and from 3 to 4, the late men held a meeting.

The afternoon session addressed by the visitors at the shops on the West Side from 4 to 5 and last evening from 6 to 7 the line force congregated in the building department. Officers were nominated by some of the departments and permanent organizations will be effected in the future. The idea is to establish a safety unit in every department of the company.

Meetings will be held every sixty days at which the members will offer suggestions as to how the number of accidents may be reduced.

Messrs. Scott and Reed were brought here from Chicago to instill some of their enthusiasm for safety into the West Penn employees. After a busy day, they departed on an early evening train for their homes.

Officers were nominated as follows: Transportation—Ernest R. Koser, chairman; James W. Pinkney, vice chairman; Henry Martz, secretary. Lighting men and Hemen-William Slatte, Greensburg, chairman; W. H. Getchell, vice chairman; Clyde Whippley, secretary. Office employees—C. Ernest Murrie, chairman; C. A. Purbaugh, vice chairman; Miss Birdella Miller, secretary.

MIRY STACKS EARLIER

Two in Chicago May Not Wait Until
January 1.

Two little blast furnaces in the Chicago district may be blown in earlier than their owners had expected. Orders have been coming at such a rate that the capacity of these furnaces has been exceeded. The furnaces are being blown in at such a rate that it seems probable these stacks may be blown at December 1 instead of January 1, as had been planned.

WORK BEGINS ON THE REPAVING OF
PITTSBURG STREETContractor J. I. Dick Starts
Force at Crawford Avenue
End.

MAY NOT CLOSE THOROUGHFARE

Efforts Will Be Made to Complete Repaving Contract Without Interrupting Traffic; Cottage Avenue Job
Completed By Brooks & Cornish.

The repaving of Pittsburg street began today, Contractor J. I. Dick of Scottdale, having put a force of men to work tearing up the old bricks just below Crawford avenue. The street is to be repaved by sections and the section between Crawford avenue and Willis road will be done first.

If the plans of the street department and the contractor do not miscarry, the street will not be closed at any time, except while the bricks are being laid. This may take a day for each section paved, but City Engineer C. F. Hirst stated that it may be possible to do the work without closing the street at all.

Bricks are on hand for the repaving of the street between Cottage avenue and Baldwin avenue and the job will not take long. The old base is to be scraped and rolled and a layer of screened slag placed upon it. On this will be put a sand cushion and after thorough rolling the bricks will be laid.

Not until the first section is paved will the next section be torn up. The best of the old bricks will be preserved for repair work by the city.

The portion of the street now being repaved is virtually the only thoroughfare between the South Side and downtown districts. Arch street is the only other outlet for the entire South Side section, and it is in the best condition. If it is necessary to close Pittsburg street between Crawford avenue and Willis road while the bricks are being laid, vehicle traffic might be diverted from downtown into Arch street, connecting with Pittsburg street by way of either Porter avenue or Green street.

After the present stretch is repaved traffic problems will be less complex. While the paving is going on between Willis road and Fairview avenue, vehicles may detour by way of Carnegie avenue. The blocking of the stretch between Fairview avenue and Pittsburg street will seriously affect travel, but congestion can be averted by use of Carnegie avenue or Prospect street.

Those who urged the repaving of Pittsburg street point to the fact that the removal of the holes and bumps will more than repay any annoyance caused by a temporary closing of sections of it.

Brooks & Cornish completed the broking of Cottage avenue between Apple street and Main street this morning and the street will be thrown open to traffic tomorrow. This adds another completed stretch to the paving program of the year. Morrell avenue, South Pittsburg street, North Pittsburg street, and portions of East Murphy and Cottage avenues have all been done this year.

A large part of the concrete curb along Isabelle road has been laid and the contractor can go ahead with the construction of the base for the paving.

AFTER A RECORD

C. W. Johnson Will Make Second
Philadelphia Dash Tonight.

C. W. Johnson, the Uniontown auto racer, will leave this town tonight at 9 o'clock on his second attempt to drive his Parkard Greyhound to and from Philadelphia in 18 hours. His schedule calls for him to make the trip in 17 minutes. A crowd of 400 will be kept on the race at various places enroute by telegraph.

Last year Johnson made a similar attempt but failed because of unavoidable delays. This year his car has been put in fine shape and barring unavoidable delays, Johnson feels sure that he can roll into Philadelphia at 4:30 Friday morning. He plans to stop in Philadelphia just 20 minutes. The return trip will be made by daylight and over a different route, which is expected to take about 10 hours.

The distance to Philadelphia on Johnson's schedule is 575 miles. If he runs close to schedule he will get back to Uniontown at 3 P. M. Friday.

Johnson announces that he will observe the speed limit going through towns and will depend upon the country districts to make up time.

A GREAT SUNSET

Those who could spare the time to look last evening saw the prettiest sunset that has been observed in the western skies for many years. There were some who said it was the most beautiful they had ever seen.

The sky just before the sunset was painted in colors that no one but Nature could ever produce and the smoke arising from Trotter seemed to enhance the scene rather than spoil its beauty.

TURN OVER TIME

When Nature Hints About the Food.

When there's no relish to food and all that one eats doesn't seem to do any good then is the time to make a turn-over in the diet, for that's Nature's way of dropping a hint that the food isn't the kind required. "For a number of years I followed railroad work, much of it being office work of a trying nature. Meal times were our busiest, and eating too much and too quickly of food such as is commonly served in hotels and restaurants, together with the sedentary habits, were not long in giving me dyspepsia and stomach trouble which reduced my weight from 205 to 140 pounds.

"There was little relish in any food and none of it seemed to do me any good. It seemed the more I ate the poorer I got and was always hungry before another meal, no matter how much I had eaten.

"Then I commenced a trial of Grape-Nuts food, and was surprised how a small amount of it would carry me along, strong and with excellent appetite, until the next meal, with no sensations of hunger, weakness or distress as before.

"I have been following this diet now for several months and my improvement has been so great all the changes in my family have taken up the use of Grape-Nuts with complete satisfaction and much improvement in health.

"Most people eat hurriedly, have lots of worry, thus hindering digestion and therefore need a food that is pre-digested and concentrated in nourishment."

"There's a Reason."

The Onward Class of the Methodist Protestant Sunday school will hold a turkey supper this evening in Macrae Hall. The hours are from 5 to 8 o'clock.

Miss Jennie Devan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Devan of Dunbar, and Elmer P. Hartman, son of John Hartman of South Conneltsville, were quietly married last evening at 8:40 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Gangawere at Dunbar. Rev. T. Milton Gladden, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Gangawere were the only attendants. The bride was attired in a handsome gown of white crepe metecord and wore a coronet and bouquet of white roses. A dainty color scheme of pink and white, with roses and chrysanthemums forming the attractive decorations prevailed. The bride is one of the most widely and favorably known young ladies of Dunbar. The bridegroom is a member of the South Conneltsville Band. This morning Mr. and Mrs. Hartman left for Johnstown for a visit with relatives. They will return to Conneltsville Friday evening.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Common Sense Advice by a New York Physician.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments acting only upon the stomach wall, or as an artificial stimulant, are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the excess acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized and its excessive formation prevented, and there is nothing better for this purpose than a teaspoonful of plain bicarbonate of soda, a simple antacid taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation. Foods which ordinarily digest may be digested perfectly if the meal is followed with a little bicarbonate of soda, which can be obtained from any drugstore and should always be kept handy.—Adv.

GAME ON SATURDAY

Interest is shown in Contest With Duquesne Apprentice School.

Tickets are on sale for the football game between the local high school and the Duquesne Apprentice School to be played at the Duquesne Field Saturday afternoon. This is the last game that will be played at home until Thanksgiving Day. The team going to Latrobe next Saturday. Washington will be the attraction here on Thanksgiving.

The Conneltsville team has been putting up a better game each week and is showing the same winning ability as the 1912 team. The crowds attending the games are better and if the team can sell enough tickets to get expenses for this season a fence may be erected next year and an even faster team is almost assured.

W. C. T. U. Completes Program for Institute on Next Friday.

HIGH SUNDAY SCHOOL MARK

Reports Show Good Attendance on the "Every Member Present" Sunday; Police Prevent Disorder During the Funeral of a Forebinder.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 10.—The W. C. T. U. have their program about completed for Friday's institute to be held in the First Baptist Church and will introduce the bring your lunch along meeting and request that every person coming to the meeting bring their lunch along. Heretofore it has been the custom of the union entertaining to serve supper and that keeps many of them working and takes away the interest already created, as they miss the intellectual feast. Since Mount Pleasant has been treated to a supper at every other place they do not know what the other unions may think, but they believe that the different unions if they do not have a meal to prepare will be more ready to entertain the institute.

The men from Standard and Monroeville who won the first and second prizes on Halloween, took their money and banqueted at the Cooper Hotel last evening to an excellent oyster supper. Addressed were made by William R. Griffin, M. O. Hopwood, T. B. Brooks, C. J. Spence. Following the dinner they organized the Frick Welfare Brotherhood, the aim and object of which is to promote and increase the welfare and general efficiency of the employees and the company. The following officers were elected: President, M. O. Hopwood; Vice President, Charles M. McGowan; Treasurer, J. L. Grunwaldt; Secretary, M. N. Pignum. The president has called a meeting of the Brotherhood for December 11, to meet at the Cooper Hotel. Invitations will be sent to other workers and they will be requested to join them. At this meeting they expect to increase the membership of the brotherhood. Twenty-one were present last evening.

their tanks along the Brush Run creek and claimed that as they filled the tank the water foamed up and ran over. This led them to believe that there was some impurity in the water and with this as a basis they asked that the water be analyzed.

John Miller was a business caller in Greensburg yesterday.

Owing to a religious dispute over the body of Gerardo Ilegua, who died at his home street home and was buried yesterday, it was necessary for the local police to drive along to the Mount Pleasant cemetery to see that nothing happened. Part of the family belonged to the Catholic Church and wished the funeral mass to be conducted by them and buried in their ground while part of them belonged to the United Presbyterian Mission and wanted the funeral conducted by the mission minister, Rev. Terranova and interment in the local cemetery.

MANY TROUBLES DUE TO WEAK KIDNEYS
"It is no use advertising a medicine unless the medicine itself is good enough to back up the claims you make for it. On the other hand it is a pleasure for druggists to sell a medicine when customers come in afterward and tell how much good it has done them. And that is why druggists like to sell and recommend Solvax, the great kidney remedy. Ever since we first introduced Solvax drug clerks have been so busy selling it that it is sometimes hard to keep a sufficient stock on hand. Moreover Solvax is always sold on a positive guarantee. It relieves the kidney sufferer of money back. This may seem rash but users have said so many good words in favor of Solvax that it is not expected that many packages will be returned."

This shows great faith in Solvax. It really is a most unusual medicine because it overcomes the worst cases of kidney complaints by removing the cause. It goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It works right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them pass off all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic pains, swelling and heats the bladder and quickly ends all such troubles.

Nothing is more uncomfortable or hurts a person's perfect enjoyment of life more than troublesome kidneys and their attending evils. Use Solvax and begin to get your full measure of benefit out of life. Sold by A. A. Clarke and other leading druggists in this vicinity.—Adv.

Germans Fight Foes With Test Tube And Retort as Well as With Guns

GERMAN CHEMISTS AT THE FRONT

Germany has a new food, discovered by a chemist in her laboratory, which also bolsters will be a powerful ally against famine. Had the amazing story of its discovery appeared in any other publication than the Chemiker Zeitung, regarded by many scientists as the leading organ of chemistry in the world, it might be received with a shrug of incredulity. The latest number of this journal tells of the finding by a young bacteriologist, who is also a private soldier, of a new microbe which changes sugar to fat and is a powerful ally against famine.

BREAK UP BRONCHIAL COUGHS, CROUP AND COLDS PROMPTLY

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonfuls for 50 Cents.

Don't neglect your first cold, cough or any bronchial affliction. This fall, but commence treatment immediately, and through using the proper medicine, it can be checked from the very start and promptly cured, but if neglected probably will hang on all winter; if it does not develop into something more serious, such as pneumonia or Consumption. True, there are hundreds, yes thousands of cough remedies on the market. While some are good, there are many which are not, but are positively harmful, due to the narcotics which they contain. But why experiment with these different remedies purely on the strength of hope of some testimonials or on the exaggerated claims of manufacturers, when Schlimm's New Concentrated Expectant is sold by Laughrey Drug Company on such positive guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, you even more—money will be refunded by them if it is not found the best remedy ever used in Severe Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Croup, and it will also be found excellent for Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Besides these drugstore guarantees, that it will be the best remedy ever used, it will likewise be found the most economical, because one bottle (50 cents' worth) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonfuls) of the most excellent medicine for any of the above affections, when mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. It makes as much, or more, than would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 of almost any of the ordinary ready-made kinds, sold in bottles holding only 24 to 32 teaspoonfuls. You will be the sole judge yourself and under the same positive "Money Back" guarantee which the druggists make for the famous Asthmaid. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy.—Adv.

Keep it ready by your bedside, spreading its genial warmth all through your sleeping room; then, just as soon as you roll out of bed, put your Perfection in the bathroom. In less than no time this, too, will be warm—not too warm, but just right.

A Perfection Heater makes the usual winter ice-cold tiled floor but a memory. Because of recollections of past discomforts, once used this heater becomes indispensable to your comfort.

It is a perfect heating device, burns without a trace of smoke or smell. Its fuel economy is pronounced, the more so if you use Atlantic Rayolight Oil. A large one-gallon tank makes constant refilling unnecessary.

Almost any dealer will gladly demonstrate a Perfection Oil Heater. The modest price ($2.75 to $5.00) will especially please and astonish you.

Got any rusty pots or pans—so badly rusted that you feel like throwing them away? Don't. Instead, clean them with Atlantic Rayolight Oil, as if by magic, the rust will disappear. What do you do with kerosene? If you know any real good uses, you'll enjoy reading later advertisements.

BUTTER and KEROSENE
There is good butter and bad butter. So is there good and bad kerosene. You can tell the difference between butters, but what do you know about kerosene?

To be sure to get the purest, best, highest grade kerosene—the kind that lasts longest, burns hottest and brightest, without smoke, soot or odor, and doesn't cost any more than the common kind, just ask your grocer for

THE SLIDING SCALE.

The sliding scale method of regulating coke prices is a buyer's invention intended to protect him against loss when his product declines, for which insurance against loss he is willing to divide a fair proportion of the profits accruing from an advancing market.

The sliding scale was once common to Conneltsville region coke contracts for the reason that it seemed fair enough, but the coke manufacturer of today does not have implicit confidence in the business ability of the furnacemen to get the best prices for the iron at all times and under all conditions. The Conneltsville operators themselves have been keen enough in competition, but upon the whole they have conserved prices better than the furnacemen, especially during the last decade, and they have come to feel that they cannot afford to permit the furnacemen to make the price of coke as well as the price of iron, because in hourly phrase the latter have been such poor hands on the job. As a result they have been more aggressive in cutting the prices of their own product than in boosting the prices of the coke manufacturer's product.

The course of the market during the current year is a fair example. The steel trade has been rising by leaps and bounds in its value and its value, yet until quite recently the pig iron market has failed to respond. It lacked realizability. The furnacemen groped at opportunity with furnishing hands, and would probably have missed it entirely but for the force of circumstances which blighted it to the cupola. The demand for iron became so insistent that furnacemen at last woke up to the fact that they could get more money for their product. It was this apparent lack of push and energy in keeping up the price of their product that caused the coke operators to lose their ancient confidence in the furnacemen as price-setters and to decide that in dealing to themselves they had better make their own prices. Hence the almost total elimination of the sliding scale.

But desperate times makes desperate men. The conditions of the iron and coke business during the first half of 1915 were not very promising in spite of the steel uplift, and the week and half saw the sliding scale proposition restored to partial favor. Some coke for 1915 delivery was sold under it. The popular scale was as follows:

Coke	Iron	Coke	Iron
11.75	11.75	11.75	11.75
12.00	12.00	12.00	12.00
12.25	12.25	12.25	12.25
12.50	12.50	12.50	12.50
12.75	12.75	12.75	12.75
13.00	13.00	13.00	13.00
13.25	13.25	13.25	13.25
13.50	13.50	13.50	13.50
13.75	13.75	13.75	13.75
14.00	14.00	14.00	14.00
14.25	14.25	14.25	14.25
14.50	14.50	14.50	14.50
14.75	14.75	14.75	14.75
15.00	15.00	15.00	15.00

At the time of its making the furnacemen did not want to pay more than $1.75 per ton for coke. Some coke operators felt that they did not stand to lose anything if they started upon a minimum. The above scale given every advance of 20 cents on every dollar of advance in iron, with a minimum of $1.75 coke. At the time the scale was made by some of the merchant producers of the Conneltsville region the price of coke was at or near the minimum. The majority of the coke business was held for flat prices of $2.25. In some of it $2.25 a ton had been done and $2.50 can no doubt be easily had for the remainder.

In the meantime the iron has suddenly begun to soar. It is quoted at $16.50 now. Under the sliding scale this will mean $2.50 coke. But predictions are freely made, and seem reasonable, that iron will advance to $18 to $20 per ton, which under the above sliding scale will carry coke up to $3.00 a ton. Just now the sliding scale looks better to Conneltsville coke operators, but the objection to it is one of principle, and the principle matters no matter what the market conditions may be.

In this connection there is, of course, the suggestion that if pig iron is going to be worth $20 per ton, the furnacemen can well afford to pay even a better flat price than $2.50 for their 1915 coke, and by their own confession an equivalent price will be $2.00 per ton. If the iron continues to jump as lively as it has been doing during the past week coke men may feel it incumbent upon them to mark up their price accordingly.

The Footlock Department is urging Christmas shoppers to mail their presents early. This department has reason to expect a better business this year than it enjoyed last Christmas, hence the desire to divide it up so that it does not all come at once. Prosperity is not without its penalties, but this people can help the overburdened parcel post.

London sleeps in pajamas. Even the women wear pants. Zappella did it.

With roses blooming in some of our gardens, the Unknot Standard expresses a desire for snow. Perhaps if the editorial page were put on ice occasionally it would help some.

Brothers Bryan and Wilson are having an interesting theological discussion. The authority they quote is undoubtedly good, but the application cannot always be correct.

The business men of Conneltsville are alive to the fact that it is time to boost.

The census estimates of population based on postoffice receipts are palpably wrong. They are based wholly on the mail.

Connellsville's Winning Daily runs to some size and circulation.

Detailed report of the coke trade for the week ending Saturday, November 5, shows a total of 23,353 ovens in the region of which 21,542 are active and 1,811 are idle, with an estimated production of 274,781 tons.

Shipments for the week aggregate 11,121 cars, contained as follows: To Pittsburgh, 4,411 cars; to points west, 5,935 cars; to points east, 1,775 cars.

Demand for coke continues greater than the capacity of the region and a price of $3 a ton is being steadily maintained.

The West Penn Railway Company secured the necessary rights of way to extend its line from Mount Pleasant to Youngwood. The line between Youngwood and Hecla will be completed this fall but the extension from Hecla to Mount Pleasant will not be built until spring.

Council and the West Penn end a long squabble over street lights by signing a contract for 80 street lamps at $55 per light a year.

A. H. London, first lieutenant of Company D, Tenth Regiment, is elected captain to succeed John L. Gans, resigned. A deadlock results in the election of a successor of Lieutenant London.

James A. Buttermore, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Buttermore, of near Coalbrook, dies from a wound suffered when he shoots himself accidentally while hunting.

The Pennsylvania Railroad starts to lay two additional tracks back of its freight station on Peach street.

To prove to the coroner's jury in which direction exploding powder exerts its greatest force, the Grand Powder Company explodes 2,000 kogs at Fairchance as a demonstration. The jury is investigating the explosion at the Grand plant which caused the death of 13 men at Fairchance on September 9.

NEWS OF THE DAY AS GATHERED UP ABOUT SCOTSDALE

Grand Army Band is Arranging for Its Annual Winter Concert.

RURAL PHONE OFFICERS NAMED

Former Resident of Mill Town is Dead at Farrell; Youth Kicked by a Horse and Painfully Hurt; Other News of Interest to Scottsdale Folk.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, November 11.—The Grand Army Band has chosen Thursday evening, December 2, as the occasion of their great annual concert, which is an event with music lovers in this neighborhood. The concert as customary will be given in the Scottsdale Theatre, and Conductor J. Frank Hardy is arranging a splendid program for that evening.

RURAL PHONE OFFICERS.
At a recent meeting at their office in Pittsford, the Fayette Rural Telephone Company elected its officers for the coming year, as follows: J. H. Truxal, president; Joseph M. Welsh, vice president; Ernest Overholt, secretary; and Albert W. Truxal, treasurer. The directors are S. H. Lyons, J. H. Truxal and A. A. Winckler.

POLE KICKED.
For several days past death has menaced those who passed along Spring street near where a Tri-State telephone pole stands at the corner of Spring and Short streets. The pole was rotten off at the bottom so that one could walk it with little effort, and the boys were running to another pole for blacked, so that the pole was supported by the cable passing at its top. Street Commissioner Gibson called the company's attention to the pole on Saturday, he said, and the street committee of council was insistent that it be fixed before a bad accident might occur. Finally yesterday two men appeared and cut off the pole and put it in the ground again.

UNION MEETING.
The World's Call for Prayer day will be observed at the United Brethren Church with a union, inter-denominational prayer meeting on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. James P. Strickler is the leader of the meeting, and the program of the World's Federation of Women's Mission Boards will be observed including reasons for thanksgiving, prayers for woman's work in the world, special prayer for the sorrowing of those in war, prayers for the nation churches in all lands, prayers for a greater liberality and increase of devotion.

KICKED BY COLT.
William, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Medsger, of near the White school house, was kicked by a colt owned by Arthur Wilson, a neighbor. Several children were playing in the yard with the nine-month old colt, when the slender child got too close and was kicked, the blow striking the little fellow in the stomach. A doctor was immediately summoned. Thus far it is difficult to tell just how much the child may have been injured.

A RECEPTION.
All members and friends of the Methodist Episcopal Church are invited to attend a reception to be given at the church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp to meet Dr. G. W. Terhush and family. There will be a brief program followed by a social hour.

A. J. WITHERBY.
Word had been received of the death of Andrew Wherry at Farrell, Pa., on Monday. The deceased was formerly a resident of Scottsdale, being in partnership with Alex Taylor, as Taylor & Wherry, marble dealers. He left here about a year ago, surviving him in his wife and a daughter, Miss Jennie Wherry. The body was taken to St. Catherine, Canada, for burial.

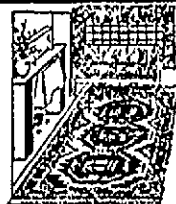

GOOD ADVICE FOR NERVOUS PEOPLE

Wine, Worms, Frazzled, Unstrung.
"Jumping" Nerves Really Need.
When you are run down, out of sorts, tire easily, have lost confidence in your ability to do things, and ambition seems to have deserted you, it's a sure sign your nerve force has run down and that your nerves need a stimulant to restore to your system its old-time strength and energy, and bring back the good old pep that used to make you famous.
Laurey Drug Co., and many other of the leading drug stores in Connellsville and vicinity, are selling a wonderful nerve remedy called Margo on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. It's amazing how quickly these Margo tablets tone up the entire system, calm and steady the nerves, and put vim, vigor and vitality into men and women who are frayed out, nervous, despondent and ambitionless.
Thousands testify to their remarkable value in cases of severe mental depression, nervous prostration, nervous depression, jumps, fidgets, and the generally unstrung nerves that come from excessive work, lack of sleep or overindulgence in drinking, eating, or smoking. They never fail to benefit. If you are blue and feel as though you didn't give a hoot, or are cross, irritable, and your nerves are right on edge, get a package of Margo right away. They come in 10 tablets to a box. Eat one with every meal for a few days, and see what a wonderful improvement they make in your whole nervous system.—Adv.

An Extraordinary Disposal Sale of $90,000 Worth of Quality Furniture to be held by one of America's oldest and most reputable furniture houses

THE past year has not been a good one in the furniture business. As a result there has been a gradual accumulation on our floors of surplus stock that normally would have been sold months ago. This surplus amounts in value to $90,000. And the McElveen reputation for newness and freshness demands that we dispose of it. We would far rather sacrifice this furniture than our reputation.

Not that this furniture is old-fashioned or undesirable—not for a moment! Much of it is scarcely more than a year old. But it is not absolutely new—therefore it must go. At a reduction of one-third to one-half off the regular prices, this sale affords an excellent opportunity to refurnish your entire home or any portion of it.

BRITISH AVIATOR DESCRIBES WORK

Here to Rest Nerves After Fighting Thirteen Months.

NINE OF TEN AIR MEN KILLED

Lieutenant A. B. Ford Has Been Wounded Twice and Has Lost Two Observers While Cruising Over the Enemy's Lines—Describes Life in the Trenches and Praises Troops.

One of ten left from the original seventy-five amateur aviators who joined the ranks of the British flying squad at the outbreak of the war, Lieutenant Archibald B. Ford, the twenty-two-year-old son of the English "plotting paper king," is in America on unlimited leave.

Thirteen months in active aviation work, having two observers killed in his aeroplanes and being himself twice slightly wounded, have told on the young pilot's nerves, and he does not intend returning to his work with the Royal Flying Corps of the British army until he has seen New York, San Francisco and Honolulu. "A bit of globe trotting," as he puts it, "will bring me back to form."

He showed among his souvenirs of the battlefield a miniature Mauser automatic gun of .24 caliber, firing ten shots, which he took from a captured aviator, a clip of rifle cartridges, which he had cut from the clothes of a dead German soldier, and the nose of a twelve pound anti-aircraft bomb, which he had found imbedded in the framework of his machine after a flight over the enemy lines. "The thing about aviation that is most telling on a man's nerves," said Lieutenant Ford, "is the seemingly interminable wait for the first big shell from an anti-aircraft gun. When one goes over the enemy lines a hail of small bullets usually strikes him, but that doesn't matter much. We know where most of the big aeroplanes are, but we don't know when they are going to fire. After the first shot from them they come thick and fast, but the strain is over. All sense of fear is gone. It is the fact that there is nothing to occupy the aviator's mind except holding to his course that makes the waiting so enervating."

English Aviators Work Hard.
"English aviators go to work every morning and evening, spending six or seven hours a day in the air regardless of weather conditions. They patrol the thirty-four mile battle front, extending from the coast to Switzerland, and often fly as far as Brussels, a hundred miles from their own lines."

"What of the life in the trenches?" he was asked.

"It has two sides," was the reply, "a humorous—rather grim,arduous, laborious, perhaps—and a tragic side. An example of the humorous side is the sport of shooting rats, in which the officers indulge. The space between the trenches, which we call 'No Man's Land,' is infested with huge rats, as big as rabbits, which feed upon the buried bodies. A mouse's tail some times amounts to 100, I dare say."

"They tell a tale, too, of the proximity of the trenches in some places, which, though of course exaggerated, shows the cheerfulness of the soldiers. So close were the trenches, said they, that the same rumpsteak served both sides. And the allied and German soldiers took turns striking their rifles through the same loopholes."

"There are more tragic stories. A colonel in my regiment, for instance, was wounded past the line of his own trenches. He lay there in 'No Man's Land' for two days, with a bullet in his spine. He was conscious and in his right mind. In fact, dictated letters to his wife to some one in the trenches. He died, for we could not get to him. He lay between the two of the lines. When we did get to him it was too late."

Irish Soldiers Make Record.
"The Canadians and Irish are making a wonderful record in the war," continued Ford, after a thoughtful pause. "The Canadians were something new a short time ago. Prowling about at night, they planned a couple of bear traps of their own manufacture near the German lines, and were rewarded with two human captives."

Chains were attached to the traps, and the Germans were hauled into camp.
"A sort of tacit agreement between the hostile lines has sprung up concerning the commissary carts can be seen winding their way toward the trenches. They are not fired on. There is a cessation, too, of the 'morning' and 'evening' firing, as we call the German fire at daybreak and sunset. 'The men in the trenches get up and walk up and down. They must have exercise. The cramped positions which they take demand it. At such times neither side fires.'"

LIVING HIGH IN THE AIR.

Quito, in Ecuador, With Winter Above and Summer Below.
Quito, in Ecuador, lifted nearly two miles into thin air, has always boasted its "perpetual spring," but in south it would be just as fair to call its climate "perpetual autumn." With a temperature that hovers about 60 degrees F. in the shade, the Quilonian passes his life in early April or late October.

He escapes the winter, to be sure, but misses the vernal miracle that redeems the higher latitude. But, whether he feels chilled or baked, he can always turn his eye toward comfort. Out across the plain, about three miles to the north, the road drops 3,000 feet through a stupendous ravine, and from the high places of Quito one can peer down into a subtropical valley, its coffee trees and cane fields dancing in the heat waves.

On the other hand, when the overhead sun scorches there are a score of snow peaks to refresh the eye. As you study through a fieldglass the huge drifts and wild snow-covered mountains, which look out over the rank forests of the "Oriente," you realize that it is easier and safer to get from where you are to Greenland than to reach those polar solitudes only a dozen miles away.

Groves of eucalyptus in the environs of Quito agreeably relieve the majesty of the scenery, and it is said that this province has a third of a million of these trees. President Moreno introduced them from Australia half a century ago, and it was a saying among even the enemies of Moreno that on the day of judgment he will escape the penalty of his misdeeds with the plea, "I gave Ecuador the eucalyptus."—New York Telegram.

The Dancing Mania.

The "dancing mania" of the middle ages came on the heels of the great plague known as the "black death." It was some sort of nervous disease and is now supposed to have been what is known as "St. Vitus' dance." It began in the year 1371 at Aix-la-Chapelle and spread all over Germany, the Netherlands and Italy. The dancers formed circles hand in hand and appearing to have lost all reason continued dancing, regardless of the bystanders, for hours together until in their wild delirium they fell to the ground in sheer exhaustion. Fainting and foaming at the mouth they would suddenly spring up and begin the dance again to be again exhausted, and so on until they died. The mania involved millions of people.

Old Saws and Sayings.

A few old sayings on the subject of food come to us rather as a surprise in our age of daintiness and refinement, yet they have their reason if not their wisdom. "Meat is much, manners are more." "Cease your chatter and mind your platter." "The ass that brays most eats least." "The wing with the liver to him who's the giver." "He can give little to his servant who licks his own trencher."

Appropos of this remark it is amusing to note that "manners" was the name given to the remnants of a meal. These came to the servants as official perquisites; hence our well worn expression before emptying a dish, "Leave the last slice for whatever it may be for manners."

A Queen Who Was a King.

Only once in the history of the world has a queen been officially known as a king. This was in Hungary, when the Hungarians gave the name of king to their Queen Mary in order to avoid the infamy which the laws of that country cast upon those who are governed by women. She bore the title of King Mary till her marriage with Sigismund. After that she took the title of queen.

For Young Folks

Master Freddy Pratt, Skillful Boy Rider.

By American Press Association.

Notable among the skillful horseback riders at the recent horse show held at Piping Rock by the New York society folk was Master Freddy Pratt, son of Herbert Pratt. Ever since he was big enough to sit on a pony's back, Freddy has been used to riding, so that now he is perfectly at home in the saddle. No longer he mounts ponies. He must have a regular-sized horse although the animal must be well broken. Many children in the country learn to ride at an early age and without much instruction either. Hardly a farm boy or girl who hasn't mounted bareback to drive the horses to water and to and from the pasture. It is fine sport, and the country lad gets as much fun out of it as their city cousins.

The Spider and the Fly.

This incident comes from Albany, N. Y.: A small garden spider had spun his web in a corner where a perpendicular column and a horizontal rail met and from the ambush of a hidden snare awaited his prey. A handsome yellow wrap passing that way espied the graceful trap and made for it. Setting his feet lightly on two or three of the meshes, he started up a great buzzing, which shook the web from end to end. The watchful spider ran out a little way, stretched forth a delicate foot to make sure of the location of the supposed fly, and then rushed for it, clinging on the wrap with a gleeful jump and no doubt a grin of hideous triumph. But Mr. Spider had reckoned without his host. Like a flash of lightning, the wrap's six nimble legs closed upon him, the graceful body bent near, fly doubled and once, twice, thrice, again and again, the sharp sting pierced the luckless spider. As his struggles grew fainter and finally ceased, the wrap, with a grim, disconcerted himself from the "wire net" and bore away his slippery victim in triumph.

The Little Pig's Lesson.

A little piggy-wig once went to court to see the king and queen. "To see the king and queen," they said, "Little pig, you can't come in. Because your face isn't clean."
So they wheeled him away in a wheelbarrow.
To the middle of the market place, And pumped and pumped till there wasn't a drop.
Of dirt upon his face.
Then they wheeled him back in the wheelbarrow.
Because his face was clean.
And he took off his hat and made a bow Before the king and queen.

PUZZLED THE JAPANESE.

The Tumult a White Woman's Pair of Black Gloves Caused.
Japanese women never wear gloves. Thousands upon thousands of Nippon natives have never seen a pair of gloves. One day as an American girl and I were walking through a small village some distance from Tokyo we were at a loss to understand why such a large crowd gathered around us on the street.

In a small town an American always gathers a crowd, but this crowd was particularly thick and excited, and when the Japanese do any looking they want to do it up close. The natives kept looking at my partner, pointing and jabbering away, wildly excited. The crowd kept getting tighter and tighter, while with our hands on our noses we kept trying to push out. They kept pointing at her hands, then at her face, and not until one of them reached over and felt her hands did we understand what was the matter.

The girl with me had on a pair of black gloves with the ends under her sleeves, so that the excited villagers were trying to solve the mystery of how a person could have black hands and a white face. When she drew off her gloves, revealing hands the same color as her face, they disappointedly widened enough to let us through.

No doubt if she had not removed her gloves the legend of the woman with the black hands and the white face that once visited the town would have been handed down for years.—Homer Gray in Leslie's Weekly.

Form of Divorce in Old Rome.

In the earlier period of the Roman republic divorces were quite unknown and were rare right up to the time of the "Punic wars." In the old days the husband and wife who wished to separate appeared for the last time before the common hearth, a priest and priestess being present. As on the day of marriage a cake of wheaten flour was presented to the husband and wife, but instead of sharing it between them they rejected it. Then, instead of prayers, they pronounced formulas of a strange, severe, spiteful character, by which the wife renounced the worship and gods of the husband. From that moment the religious bond was broken, and the community of worship having ceased to exist, the marriage without further ado was forever dissolved.

Puzzled.

A little girl has a new baby sister, and she has been somewhat puzzled as to the exact status of the new arrival in the family. She had willingly given up her bed, but something still seemed to trouble her greatly. One day she was found surveying the dining room just at mealtime. She looked at her own high chair, then inquired suspiciously of her father, "Where is she going to eat, daddy?"—Indianaapolis News.

Consistently.

Head waiter (cheerful and pompous)—Have you ordered, sir? Despairing Patron—Yes, I ordered a porterhouse steak half an hour ago, and I wish to apologize for my rudeness. With your permission I will withdraw it as an order and renew it as a suggestion.—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Ewe—Here's an invitation from Mrs. Boreleigh to one of her threesome dinners. I hate them. Ewe—Why not plead a previous engagement? Mrs. Ewe—That would be a lie. Fifth, dear, write Mrs. Boreleigh that we accept with pleasure.—Boston Transcript.

THEY REFUSE TO EAT

At periods in most children's lives they fail to relish their meals and refuse to eat even the delicacies prepared to tempt their appetites. They lack ambition, and growth seems impeded, which causes anxiety and worry.

To compel them to eat is a grave mistake, because nutrition is impaired. Healthful exercise in fresh air and sunshine is important, but equally important is a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion three times a day to feed the tissues and furnish food energy to improve their blood, and nutrition and sharpen their appetites.

The highly concentrated medicinal food in Scott's Emulsion supplies the very elements children need to build up their strength. They relish Scott's—it is free from alcohol.

let's talk turkey for a few minutes

We'll just take this opportunity to say that we appreciate this confidence that you out-of-town folks put in us.

Remember at school, when the teacher put us on our honor about not talking—and not chewing gum, etc.—you just made up your mind that you would deserve that confidence.

Just the same principle holds true about our storekeeping. You send us your good money by mail, fully trusting to our honor not to violate your confidence—and we've kept the faith for nearly half century—and we say—boastfully, if you please—we're proud of that record.

And by the way—we promised to talk turkey—didn't we? If you're in town between now and Thanksgiving, come over—we've got a good restaurant and we just know you can spend a day here and at least save carfare on your purchases.

Special sales of Thanksgiving needs—Linen—Cut Glass—and goodies for the table—oh! ever so many things which you'll want when you see them, and every price a low one.

THE HEART OF NIGHT WIND

A STORY OF THE GREAT NORTH WEST

By VINGIE E. ROE

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

The ride home was silent, with Sandry in the lead, his spirit still stirred and shaken by what he had beheld. They did not speak again until the camp lay before them at the big bend. "Sillets," said Sandry then, "Black Belt is yours. None other shall ever ride him again."

She said nothing, but her fingers tightened in the halting crest tossing before her.

When they rode up across the small bridge that spanned the slough below the footlog the foreman was standing beside the hammerlock. He reached up, hauled down the slough and the girl lightly down, sending a glance across her shoulder that arrested the foreman's attention instantly.

"Mr. Sandry," he said simply, "Hampton's got us. There ain't a back in the camp but Collins. He's bought the rail at Toledo an' offered a two-dollar-a-day rate to every timberjack an' riverhog in the county. Even Harris. Daily's big voice deepened with bitterness. 'That was worth it, for there ain't a fier like him this side o' Frisco—has gone—' for him! Hampton come to the very edge up there on the road an' gathered 'em out for a talk—an' they come back an' packed like sheep! Damn their hides! He had contracts for two years at them wages—an' they signed like fools—scrambled for the shooal. An' some o' 'em's ben fighting him a couple o' years! No had wages waitin' in a string at the bend by the road—ready to move 'em that bad cabin! Burson an' Black an' McManister—they all loaded their stuff an' biked. An' I don't know of another bunch o' loggers this side o' Portland!"

Sandry, his face gone white as sand under his hat brim, stared at the black windows of the cabins. "Eal, son," said Miss Daily firmly when he entered the long room, "eat first an' think after. A empty stomach's a poor boiler for workin' steam."

And Sandry, looking into her kindly blue face, saw the sanity of her advice. He took her fat hand—and a spoon and the end of a dish towel also—holding it tight in his own for a moment.

"Right you are, ma," he answered, and sat him down.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Call of the Wind

The night lay thick over the Sillets country. High above, the pine tops sang with a roar, soft-voiced but far-reaching as thunder. Mystery and loneliness pressed upon the wilderness like a finger. It quivered the sharp ears of Black Belt, perched forward, listening. It paddled the feet of Coonah running ahead in the trail, but upon Sillets its touch was lost. She, too, was of the forest on a night like this; she, too, was free of its hidden paths. Hour after hour they threaded the familiar way, and presently the forest lightened, fell away, left them at the steep shore of the Sillets river, gurgling along in the darkness, swift and shallow.

Fields and pastures lay here upon right and left and cabins stood quiet in the shadows. This was the headquarters of the reservation. Through the small settlement, up a lane and across a wooded lot went the trio, and presently Sillets drew rein where a sorry shack crouched to hither beneath a mammoth fir. The sound brought to his door a bent figure that came and stood at Black Belt's head like a shadow.

Sillets spoke in jargon, laid down, trailed the reins on the earth and entered the little house.

An hour later she stood against its closed door, facing a dusky circle of squatting figures, her trim form straight in the lamplight, her shirt open a bit at the throat, her slim hands eloquent in quiet gestures.

Near the pine table that held the stilt light stood old Kolauma, a splendid illustration of the white man's ways.

He might have been fifty years of age, he might have been a hundred. Pure blood of chiefs ran in his veins, and he had memories of the time when the Oregon country reached from the northern sound to the valley of the Sacramento, but the burden of pioneer hung heavy on his shoulders, his fingers trembled from much devotion to the Spirit of the Burning Water.

Broken in heart and soul and tribe, he dreamed out the long last days in the monotony of the reservation, sending his sons to the red-roofed school on the hill, turning them almost loose upon their lands when they were through—but still throughout the country where the sign of the Sillets was seen, there were known his wise precepts, there would his call bring followers. About him gathered now a silent circle, young men who could speak good English and write essays on the evolution of man, older ones who accepted the modern modes with reservations, and a few like himself of the ancient type.

To them Sillets was speaking. "Trouble has fallen upon the Night Wind," she said solemnly, "and she comes to her friends for help. Sandry at the camp is deserted by his men. The camp falls, the work is stopped, the engines are silent at their posts, and a big contract that means much is ready to be lost—and Hampton of the Yellow Pine laughs in gloe, for he has done this thing. Men there are not in the country—and to go to Portland means loss of time on the great contract. Therefore Sandry sits with his head in his hands, thus—"

With swift art she bent her dark head forward upon her palms, drooped her slim shoulders, and instantly dropped her head before the dusky circle. "For which the heart of Sillets sickens, for who is Sandry's woman?"

There was silence for a space. The girl was an artist.

"She would help him. Therefore she comes to her friends, whose hearts are large with friendship, though their hands are soft with leisure. The Sillets need not work. Will they give the free gift of labor for the Night Wind's man?"

It was a heart-speech. It was in jargon and it was successful, for with the early dawn, blue-gray with mist and sun shot with crimson, Sandry, who had not slept, standing with furrowed brows on the office step, heard sounds of hoofs at the valley's head. He looked and beheld a cavalcade of horsemen, riding with ease on their padded saddles, and led by Sillets upon Black Belt, who still stepped proudly after his day and night's journey, while Coonah rolled with swishing ears at his side.

"Here," said the girl as she rode up, "they will work for the big contract." And she slid down with a little sigh of weariness before Sandry could offer his arms.

"Gosh!" said Daily to himself in the shadow of the office, "the Sillets!" "Mr. Sandry," he said to the owner when the long tables were filled in every place with the best of the vanishing tribe that Sillets could pick. "I'm kickin' myself that I didn't think of the Indians myself, though Lord knows if we can whip 'em in line, for it would take the devil himself to make a Swashaw."

But it did not take his majesty. It took only the word of Kolauma, who had given a command which a quiet half-breed who seemed, the leader of the crew artlessly repeated to Sandry. "We will work till the contract's saved," he said, "in giving to you to give to Sillets, who is your woman."

And Sandry, astounded beyond measure, opened his mouth and closed it without speech.

And it was work indeed for all Sandry himself, as he had grimly threatened once, "learned how" and tended hook. Collins took Hastings' place at the roading donkey, selecting a slim, brown boy as foreman, while the foreman proved his worth a dozen times over, by being everywhere at once, by filling things down to the most rigid system, by planning, executing, guiding, with the hand and mind of an artist.

It would have been contrary to human nature if Sandry had not felt a thrill of triumph when he next ran across Hampton at Toledo.

The Yellow Pine owner grinned. "Swashaw!" he said insolently. "Swashaw!"

"You!" flamed the younger man. "Swashaw—but I have five million feet of logs at the mouth of my slough! I'll float my contract on time, Mr. Hampton—and then I'll look into the little matter of your East Belt."

That day he got his first letter from Poppy Ordway. It was heavy and satiny and it breathed an insidious perfume.

Also it was brilliant with excitement and lilted at great things.

"I'm certain Hampton's crooked," she wrote; "I've found a man who knows him—and he's in the commissioner's office. He's young and he's susceptible and he thinks I'm one of the 'ring!' Oh, but it's exciting. I passed him a tip—can't that the way you men would say it!—that I had a 'snap' in view, but that I already had thing progresses. The mention of Hampton and 'snap' did for him—and I'm all but over the brink of a fraudulent entry even now! He's offered—in my case, specially—to come down on the piece of my 'rent' two hundred dollars—of course clandestinely, I'm to say nothing about it to the 'ring!' Ye gods! I'm wild with the luck. More later."

February was passing. The days of stifled sunlight were becoming more frequent. The camp was humming with business. Silent, bent on the thing in hand, the Indians worked without need of encouragement. The slough was bank-fall and its surface was covered, from dawn to dark with a floor of logs slowly drifting on every tide downward to the backwater.

At the slough's mouth a huge cradle was slowly forming in its braces. Here the little loading donkey puffed and tooted, grappling many-ton timbers with its two drag-hooks, placing them here and there. The mass of chains covered the bottom of the cradle a few feet apart.

Twelve men worked continually at the great marine monster, packing the logs inside the cradle, carrying the giant chains up and over as the snug floor reached the top, lacing the whole together and at last lifting the center gently, thus giving to the thing its likeliness to a vast cleaver.

A timber-scaler, sent down by the Portland firm, was constantly in attendance.

A shack had been thrown up at the head of the raft and a watch was kept day and night.

"We can't trust Hampton a minute," said Sandry; "I'm learning a lesson." Indeed he was learning a lesson. Only John Daily in the sea of his just nature watched this Johnny Eastern take his rough knocks and come up with his teeth set.

These two were growing together in a slow affection. The big room had, in a sense, become home to Sandry, and the evenings when Ma sat in her little rocker and Sillets braided her mats with Coonah beside her filled his toll-worn soul with peace.

The preacher had slipped away as silently and mysteriously as he had come, with a blessing upon all and a promise to return—"when you shall need me, my children."

CHAPTER XV.

"There is No Law for a Genius."

March came in like a lamb with delicate weather, crystal clear and opal bright, and with it came Miss Ordway. Sandry was glad to see her, but the critical point was at hand and he scarce took time to eat or sleep from the great work of the contract.

The mammoth raft was ready, the largest, according to Daily, that the camp had ever sent out in all its life, and a special boat from the Portland Mills company would lay off Yaquna to receive it on the sixteenth.

On the night of the second, Daily caught a glimmer of white on the lintel. It was a paper, stuck in with a thumb-tack.

"Watch your raft," it said, "for powder."

That was all, and it was unsigned. Daily told Sandry of the incident and showed the warning.

So for the remaining nights the great raft was lighted from end to end and four of the Indians patrolled in shifts, armed with rifles and under orders to shoot at the first sign of trouble.

The work went forward rapidly. The Swashes, born and raised in the timber country, knew all the work of the camp and they needed no driving. They were a gutsy set, and Sandry in the pressing days and he came to look upon them with a wide tolerance.

"In serving you we serve Sillets," he quoted to himself, "for who's your woman?" And an odd sensation prickled his skin, tingled at the roots of his hair. Some way, somehow, these were Sillets' people—these silent, shifty, well-taught creatures, who made no use of their talents, yet who did hard, unnecessary labor at the call of the blood.

That night, with the raft and even the two engines under guard and all the length of track patrolled, he came in tired, worn to a thin edge with sleeplessness, tense and taut as a singing wire, to meet Miss Ordway.

She slipped her hand into his arm with a little, familiar gesture and turned him about.

"Come along and relax," she said, "you're almost hysterical."

"I believe I am," said Sandry wearily, though as he stepped out into the night, soot already with the breath of spring as in the way with the coast country, where the seasons shoulder each other suddenly for place, he looked uneasily for Sillets.

"Let's go up to the old railway. It's deserted and I have things to tell you—oh, many things!"

She laughed, her little rippling laugh that was so soft and rich, and it soothed the man's strained nerves like a narcotic.

Miss Ordway sat down, or rather climbed up, on a log that lay beside the railway and drew her gray broad-cloth aside.

Sandry settled himself beside her and took off his hat. The soft, changed breath of the night air was grateful to him.

"Wherever I'll be thankful when this strain is over, that raft headed out to sea and my contract fulfilled! I never knew business was so strenuous."

Miss Ordway looked at him through the dusk with admiring eyes.

"But look how you're succeeding! Why, it's great!"

"Yes—but for how much of it can I thank myself? Hampton has me in a bad hole about my great East Belt—the best timber in the region and the base, practically, of the Dillingworth's future—and but for these Indians I would be now—well, I hate to think where I'd have been!"

"Sh!" said Miss Ordway; "not so fast about that bad hole. Instead, Mr. Walter Sandry, we've got your friend Hampton in the deepest hole he was ever in in all his life. In fact, when we say the word, he'll turn over the East Belt with both hands!"

"Sandry held out a hand and Miss Ordway took it, not after her usual manner of half-follow, but with a gentle, proprietary motion.

"I have right here copies of filings on sixteen claims, all duly put through by 'cash entry' by as many different men—and I know that Hampton owns all these numbers, that he furnished the money for building the cabins, for filing fees, for advertising, for fuel, proofs at the land office and for the government price of the land. In return for all this these bogus entry-men—your drifting gentry of the splunk boots and the 'turkey' in moss-cases—received four hundred dollars each for the breaking of their faith with the government. No wonder Hampton is rich!"

For a long moment Sandry sat in a silence so deep that he ceased to breathe. He was grasping the magnitude of the man's daring—the gigantic risk he ran with his safety in the uncertain hands of sixteen men.

And also he was beginning to comprehend, wonderfully, the daring of this woman, her finesse, her cleverness and her success.

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyman's Catarrh Healing Medicine to the Infected Membrane.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, and the like. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would probably have said the only way to help catarrh would be to have a change of climate, but now with a simple prescription called Hyman's you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and its breathing in a few minutes will be a day's successful treatment.

The complete Hyman's outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dispenser and a bottle of Hyman's. The inhaler lasts a life time, and if one bottle does not give permanent relief, an extra bottle of Hyman's can be obtained at any time for a trifling sum. It is more economical than all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only treatment known to us that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

A. A. Clarke has sold a great many Hyman's outfits and the more he sells the more convinced he is that it is the best way in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyman's does not relieve.—Adv.

To Put on Flesh and Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin People.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to gain a few pounds and stay that way," declare many thin men and women. Such result is usually not impossible despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of setting into the blood much of the fat and flesh producing elements may in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the flesh making food elements must be so prepared in the digestive processes that the blood will accept and distribute them throughout the body. There is a preparation called Sargol, which works on this basis and which is sold by nearly every druggist on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. Hundreds have testified to weight increase from its use.

Sargol does not of itself make fat but is simply a combination of ingredients of acknowledged merit that, taken with meals, seems to better enable the digestive organs to separate the fattening elements of the food and to prepare them in a form which the blood can readily absorb. Sargol comes in tablet form, is pleasant and easy to take and its action is perfectly natural and harmless. Sargol is sold by druggists everywhere who are authorized to refund the full purchase price if weight increase is not obtained.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while it has produced excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders care should be taken by those using it who do not want to increase weight.—Adv.

$3.00 COKE IN SIGHT FOR OPERATORS WHO MADE SLIDING SCALE CONTRACTS

Predictions of $20 Pig Iron are Freely Made.

COKE NEGOTIATIONS PENDING

Involves Large Tonnage Though There Are Rumors That Some Contracts Have Been Closed; Prompt Coke Quiet But Pig Iron Much Excited.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

CONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 10.—The question who will sell coke for next year at flat prices or those who sold on a sliding scale basis, has been settled in the past week as far as such a question can be settled in advance. The seller on a sliding scale wins. While the sliding scale contracts were not all alike, the most common was one which placed a price of $2.25 on coke when basic pig iron at Valley furnace should be $15.00, with 25% as much movement in coke as in pig iron. The coke sold at flat prices averaged about $2.25, this figure having been shaded slightly in one or two contracts covering the whole year, while contracts were made in some instances, particularly when the delivery was over six months away.

The question therefore was whether pig iron was likely to increase more or less than $15.00. The basic pig iron market advanced to $15.00, Valley, just before the middle of October, and stayed at that level while most of the contract business in coke was being put through. The last day of October a sale was made at $15.50, so that if there were no further change flat price and sliding scale contracts would yield the coke seller about the same money.

In the past few days conditions in pig iron have changed entirely. Bessemer iron, which was quotable a week ago at $15.00, Valley, advanced to $15.50 late last week, and the Monday of this week a sale of 5,000 tons was made at $17.50, establishing the market at that figure. Basic will hardly rule at more than $1 a ton below Bessemer, and a market of $16.50 may be regarded as practically established, nearly two months before the new year opens, with prospects of further and sharp advances. Even with $16.50 pig iron the sliding scale contracts would yield about $2.45. According to the views of some furnacemen basic iron may easily average $20 during the first half of the year, and $20 pig iron would mean $1.15 for coke on a sliding scale, a common form of contract. An interesting point is that at one stage of the negotiations for coke there were offers by furnacemen of a higher percentage, 25% in the opinion of some, provided the coke operator would concede a smaller percentage in the lower ranges. Such a contract, it now appears, would have been still better for the seller.

There are negotiations pending for quite a large tonnage of furnace coke for next year. In the aggregate, but the negotiations appear to be proceeding rather slowly. A contract with a prominent steel interest east of Pittsburgh is understood to have been closed at $2.25, involving 10,000 tons a month over next year. For the first half alone a considerably higher price would be asked. Rumor has it that Corbion, American & Company, has closed for all or a major portion of their coke requirements for next year, some 60,000 to 75,000 tons a month. At the New York interest that now has been closed, there are rumors also that the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company has closed for its requirements for the early months of 1916, until the company's by-product coke plant is completed some time in April or early May, the requirements being 70,000 or 75,000 tons of coke a month.

The pressure for spot and prompt furnace coke eased off late last week and since then there has been comparatively little demand. The scarcity coke operators had such a close shave that they are now very conservative and have not dropped asking prices much, preferring to accumulate a little surplus if possible. While there is talk of prompt coke available at $2.25, the market seems more fairly quotable at $2.10 to $2.20. Foundry coke continues very strong and has not been affected by the slight decline in prompt furnace. The market is quotable as follows:

Prompt furnace $2.00 to $2.20
Contract furnace, first half, $2.25 to $2.50
Contract furnace, second half, $2.25 to $2.50
Prompt foundry $2.00 to $2.25
Contract foundry $1.90 to $2.20

Average prices of prompt furnace and prompt foundry coke since the first of the year have been as follows, quotations day by day being averaged by months:

PROMPT COKE

Month	Furnace	Foundry
January	$1.50	$2.10
February	1.55	2.15
March	1.60	2.20
April	1.65	2.25
May	1.70	2.30
June	1.75	2.35
July	1.80	2.40
August	1.85	2.45
September	1.90	2.50
October	1.95	2.55

The pig iron market has been highly excited the past few days. Following the heavy movement in Bessemer and basic pig iron reported last week ago, and which involved a total of fully 40,000 tons, furnacemen have been advancing prices rather sharply and have come out indifferent to the matter of offering sales, apparently

COKE TRADE IN TABULAR

Sliding scale contracts excite new interest because of the fact that pig iron has advanced to a point where coke is now $2.15, with every prospect that pig iron will go to $18 or $20 per ton, which will mean $2.00 to $2.15 for sliding scale contract coke. Considerable flat coke tonnage remains to be covered for and the upward bounds of pig iron are causing merchant operators to hold out for their demands with more firmness than ever. Production and shipments of coke last week suffered a decline by reason of labor conditions. Election day and a religious holiday caused a number of workmen to be out of the factories. The plants ran six days, but the workmen didn't work full time. Production fell to 42,000 tons in consequence. Shipments were 42,000 tons. The furnace interest held some stock. The merchant operators now have 80% of their ovens in blast. The furnace interest has 81%.

A feature of the merchant coke trade is increased business last week.

believing that any price they might name would be reached by the market within a short time. Bessemer iron last week was unobtainable at less than $16.50, Valley, representing an advance of 50 cents, and some quotations were as much higher. The exact position of the market was disclosed when on Monday a sale, just mentioned above, was made at $17.50. This was 2,000 tons for Northern and Bessemer shipment, a domestic shipment, and the furnace interest, making the coke immediately advanced its asking price to $20.00, being content not to sell any more from that market, reaching that insupportable level. The pig iron market is quotable as follows, with a strongly advancing tendency:

Bessemer $17.50
Northern $16.50
Foundry $15.50 to $16.00
Malleable $15.50 to $16.00
Gray Forge $15.50 to $16.00

These prices, however, are for furnace, pieces delivered Pittsburgh being 25 cents higher, the amount of the freight.

STEEL MARKET WILD AND UNPRECEDENTED

But the Mills Have on Their Hands a Very Small Proportion of Speculative Business.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Market, which have been in a state of wild and unprecedented fluctuations, are now in a state of comparative calm. The situation in iron and steel cannot be described by the terms ordinarily used in discussing market conditions. The market is altogether wild and unprecedented. Sellers daily become more reserved and buyers more impatient. It is not a speculative market. The mills are concentrating themselves on the small production of speciality business, that is, they are not producing in large quantities. The market is altogether wild and unprecedented. Sellers daily become more reserved and buyers more impatient. It is not a speculative market. The mills are concentrating themselves on the small production of speciality business, that is, they are not producing in large quantities.

At ten-day intervals here, prices and values have been advanced. The two of $1 a ton and one of $2 a ton and the present market of 1.60c may yield to one of 1.75c in the near future. Sheets have been advancing sharply, with many producers practically out of the market. The war demand for steel has increased, both by steel for new war uses being required and by steel being sought for deliveries farther ahead. There is the apparently extravagant rumor that an order for half a million tons of sheet piling has been ordered. Sheets are being inquired for in very large tonnages, for new war uses.

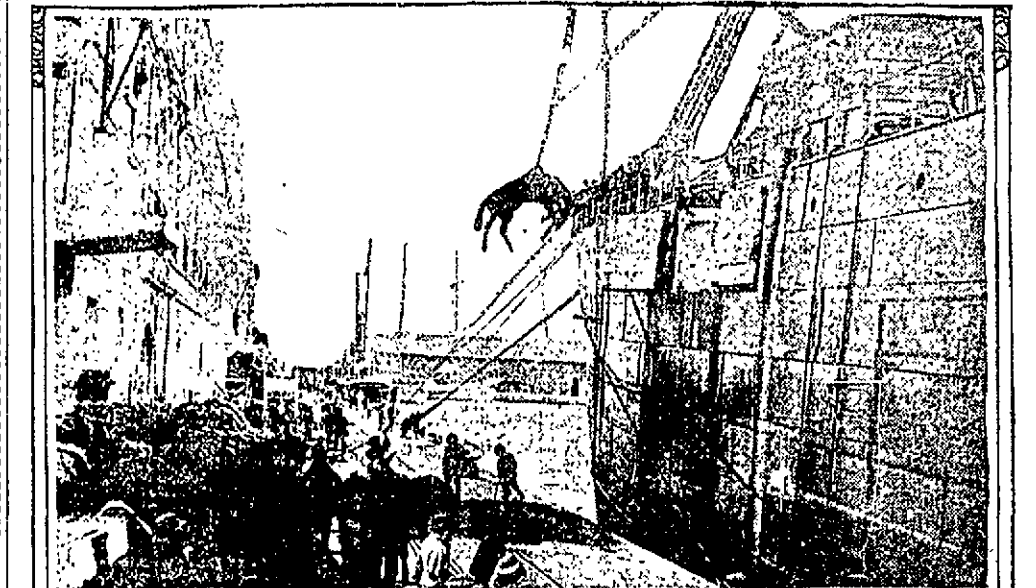

The demand for steel for strictly domestic consumption is increasing rapidly. The railroads are very heavy buyers and they are being asked to pay full market prices in cases in which they formerly expected concessions as a matter of course. There are no price preferences in any quarter and none as to deliveries except as the physical condition of the buyer merits consideration. Pig iron, so long a distant trailer of the steel advance, has shown a wonderful advancing tendency. A furnace threatens the Chicago market, and prices there have advanced $2.50 in scarcely more than a fortnight. Valley Bessemer advanced $1 a ton over night and the average price of pig iron throughout the country has advanced $1 a ton in less than three weeks.

STEAMSHIP LINE BEING FORMED

Seattle Business Men Would Establish Line to France.

A line of steamships to establish direct communication between Puget Sound and France is being created on the Pacific coast. It is announced by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce. Officials here have been advised that business men of Seattle are holding frequent conferences with French commercial representatives with this end in view. The department said great interest has developed in the movement and a shipping boom is being experienced in the Puget Sound district. Extensive port improvements have been made. Shipping companies in Portland also have been organized to maintain water communication with the West coast of South America.

Allies Improve Port of Saloniki to Help in Landing Men and Supplies

GETTING CAVALRY HORSE ASHORE AT SALONIKI—FRENCH SOLDIERS AT SALONIKI

M. Stouhoulis, the new premier of Greece, having announced his intention of maintaining an attitude of "very benevolent neutrality" toward the entire powers, it is expected that the sending of allied troops to and from the Greek port of Saloniki will proceed without interruption by the Greeks. A dispatch from Athens to Paris says that by agreement with the local authorities the entire allies will construct a jetty and make a new road at Saloniki to facilitate communication between the wharves and the railroad terminal. The authorities also have given the entire allies permission to use part of the wharves to land troops when the wharves are not required for Greek transports. The pictures show the disembarkation of a cavalry horse at Saloniki and French troops marching in the city.

GERMAN COKE SHORTAGE

Teutons Unable to Find a Coal to Mix With Native Fuel.

With the approach of fall and winter, the shortage in coke that exists in Germany because of the war is being increasingly felt. The stoppage of English coal is responsible for the shortage. The supply of coke formerly was manufactured from a mixture of English and Upper Silesian coal. Since the importation of the former ceased, the result is a coke of inferior quality. The shortage of coke has been a vain search for a substitute from which good coke could be made.

Austrian, Silesian, Bohemian, Polish and Westphalian coal all have been tried, and the result in each case is the same. The result is a coke of inferior quality. The shortage of coke has been a vain search for a substitute from which good coke could be made.

TONNAGE GOING UP

Prediction of 40,000,000 Tons of Pig Iron Nearing Realization.

Twenty years ago it was predicted in steel circles that a quarter of a century would see the annual output of pig iron attain 40,000,000 tons and crude steel 50,000,000 tons. This prediction is in a fair way to be realized in spite of the unpropitious conditions of last year. We are now producing pig iron at the rate of approximately 35,000,000 tons annually, and the output of steel is about the same.

Before many months, an annual rate of 40,000,000 tons may be a reality; but probably it will be some years before the stated goal will have been reached. It would require 12 months of well sustained prosperity, like the present, to make possible the production of 40,000,000 tons of either iron or steel in a single period of 12 consecutive months. This year began with an output 50% less than it is today. However, many more blast furnaces are preparing to blow in, and extensions to steel plants are being built to keep the benefit of the high prices now current.

Still, one important element is the ore supply, and that will govern the output in the near future. The Lake ore section is about over; the Transvaal is closed, European sources are being tapped, and winter, when blast furnace operations are more difficult, is coming upon.

Train Load of Ore Arrives.

The first train load of ore from the Mesabi Range for the Minnesota Steel Company's new plant has arrived.

ANGLO-AMERICAN STEEL MERGER IS REPORTED ON WAY

Combination of Plants in United States and Canada Gossiped.

SEEK TO BUY SEVERAL WORKS

Negotiations for Purchase of the New York State Steel Company Mills Seem to Give Credence to Theory That Plan is Developing.

Rumors are persistent of the organization in this country by British, of a steel merger to be known as the International Steel Company. According to reports four different interests are endeavoring to secure possession of the New York State Steel Company plant. According to one financier, who has operated the Buffalo River works, near Buffalo, N. Y., declares that it will require a million dollars and from six months to one year to put this plant into effective working condition. It would be possible, however, to turn out ingots in a much shorter time, probably 60 days, the time usually necessary for rolling of the blast furnace. The plant has an annual capacity of 150,000 tons of ingots today. Announcements of the expenditure of money in a secondary consideration. More steel must be obtained to meet the pressing requirements of the allied governments.

Other plants being actively sought and alluded to more or less frequently are those of the Thomas Iron Company, the Wharton Steel Company, the Eastern Steel Company, and now the Carnegie Steel Company. The Canadian Car & Foundry Company is mentioned as one of the possible purchasers, at least of some of these plants. Steel interests are said to be negotiating for control of the Carbon Steel Company.

Will Mine in Greenland.

The Danish government is taking steps to mine coal in Greenland more intensively. This is due to the fact that it is difficult now to buy English coal in Denmark.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company on November 30 will hold a special meeting to increase the capital stock from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Western Pacific Orders Cars.

The Pullman Company has received an order for 1,000 box cars from the Western Pacific Railway Company.

October Coal Exports.

Exports of bituminous coal from the three leading ports were as follows: Hampton Roads, 441,443 tons; Baltimore, 130,584 tons; Philadelphia, approximately 75,000 tons.

Alles Lead Green $8,000,000.

The loan of $8,000,000 from Great Britain, France and Russia to Greece has been concluded and the money is now ready for Hellenic government.

Italy a Good Customer.

Exports of coal to Italy during the first eight months of this year are reported at 2,023,000 tons.

EARNINGS INCREASE

Cruible Steel Company Books Much Domestic Business.

The annual report of the Cruible Steel Company shows a large increase in earnings for the year ending August 31. Net profits were $2,072,742, an increase of $2,058,710, equal to 12.28% on the preferred stock. The report says:

"We have taken contracts covering all descriptions of steel intended for munitions for foreign countries amounting in value to not in excess of $17,000,000, about one-half of which has been sold to domestic manufacturers. About one-half the material called for under these contracts will be shipped by the end of 1915, the balance following during the early months of 1916. Outside of business of this character, your company has been unable to secure much export business, its output being now largely confined to domestic orders emanating through the demands of foreign countries for our home customers. So many false reports have been made in the public prints as to the value of the war orders your company has accepted that it seems wise for us at this time to state the real facts."

OLD CAR CASE

Court Annals Order Regarding Pennsylvania to Supply Tank Cars.

An Interstate Commerce Commission ruling requiring the Pennsylvania railroad to supply enough cars to move the output of the refineries of the Crawford-Weick Company and the Pennsylvania Refining Works, has been suspended and ordered annulled by a decision of Judges Woolley and Orr in the United States District Court.

It was held that a common carrier does not have to furnish cars for shipment of oil. Judge Thompson dissented, holding that the decision would open the way for discriminating practices by railroads.

REMINGTON PLANT EXTENSION.

Reported Munitions Factory Group of 28 Buildings Will Be Erected.

A dispatch from Bridgeport says the Remington Arms & Ammunition Company is planning to construct another factory group that will be double the size of the one just completed. Twenty-six 5-story buildings, the dispatch says, are to be erected.

The dispatch adds that the Union Metallic Cartridge Company has also let contracts for seven 5-story and 2-story buildings to be added to its plant.

First Aid Recruits.

Director Van H. Manning of the Bureau of Mines, says in event of war the mining regions would have 50,000 men immediately available for aid hospital service.

Railroads Use More Coal.

One reason why railroad coal requirements have increased so greatly in recent years is to be found in the greater weight of equipment.

THE UPPER CONNELLSVILLE AND GREENSBURG REGIONS

Have Speeded Up Somewhat and Show Weekly Output of 45,000 Tons, a Marked Increase.

From The Weekly Courier.

The Upper Connelville and Greensburg Connelville coke regions have increased their output to the record figure of the present year, namely, 45,000 tons, after having been running only 10,000 tons for some weeks past. The Upper Connelville or Latrobe district shows an output of over 25,000 tons. The Greensburg district is lagging in its coke business. It has done approximately 15,000 tons this year, but its record last week was only 16,000 tons. Neither of these districts is operating to coke capacity, but both are shipping considerable tonnage.

The shipments in tons from these districts for the week ending Saturday, November 6th, were as follows:

District	Nov. 6	Nov. 5	Nov. 4
Upper Conn.	24,448	19,800	19,425

Recently Leases Anspach Mine.

J. Blair Kennerly, a well known coal operator of Philadelphia, has leased the Anspach mine in Somerset county on the Baltimore & Ohio from the Girard Trust Company, trustee, and will begin operation shortly after November 15.

Director Van H. Manning of the Bureau of Mines, says in event of war the mining regions would have 50,000 men immediately available for aid hospital service.

Railroads Use More Coal.

One reason why railroad coal requirements have increased so greatly in recent years is to be found in the greater weight of equipment.

Shipments Slightly Excess, Showing Some Stock Going Out.

400 MERCHANT OVENS FIRED

The Merchant Operators Now Running 80% of Their Ovens and the Steel Interest 85% of Its Lave Ovens; A Record Eastern Coke Business.

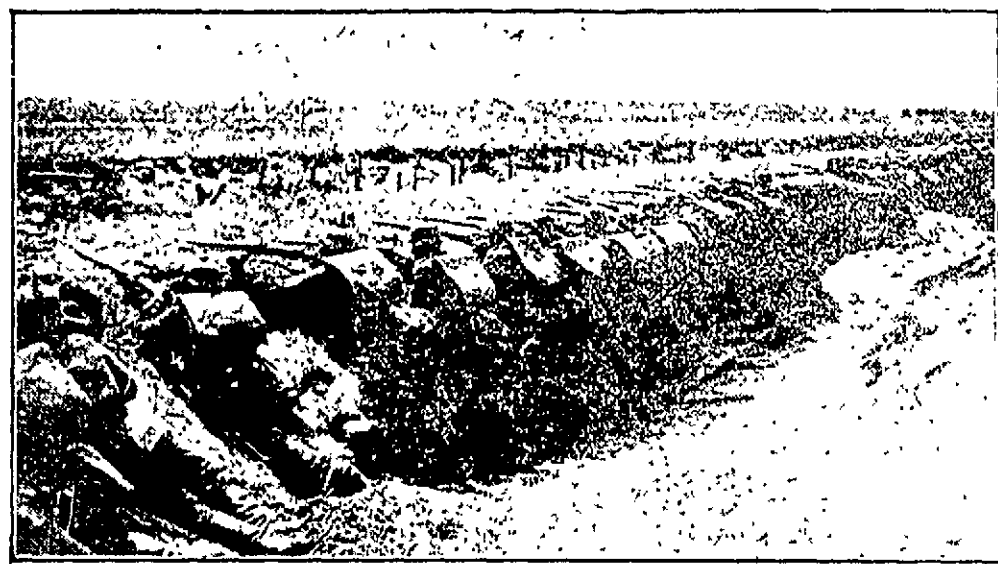

From The Weekly Courier.

Connellville coke production and shipments fell off last week as anticipated because of religious holidays and election day. Production dropped to 424,000 tons, against 425,000 tons the previous week, while shipments fell to 425,000 tons as against 441,000 tons the previous week. It will be noted that shipments continue slightly in excess of production. This was due to the fact that the furnace interest was compelled to ship some stock coke because of the heavy operating conditions. The same conditions caused the merchant operators to make less coke last week than they made the previous week although over 400 ovens were fired. The plants are reported as operating six days all round, but as a matter of fact few of them had a full complement of men every day in the week, and some ovens were left in consequence. This reduced the output. The 21,000 ovens in operation have a capacity of approximately 450,000 tons if properly speeded up. They were not up to the full measure of their efficiency last week because of the same conditions. The record of the present week will show improved results.

The merchant operators continue to fire up idle ovens and now have approximately 15,000 tons of coke in operation. The furnace interest has fired no new ovens recently, but is operating 81% of its total accredited ovens and 55% of its efficient ovens. Six days is the working life in the coke region now. Generally speaking there are no lay-off days save those which the workmen themselves make. There is no stock coke in the region save that at the furnace ovens, and it has been pretty freely drawn upon recently. A feature of the merchant trade is the increase in Eastern business which has risen to over 40,000 tons weekly apparently without export assistance.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"J. RUFUS WALLINGFORD"—The celebrated series of pictures, "J. Rufus Wallingford" will be presented at the Soisson Theatre today. It is the third series of this famous play and is a corking good one. The Millionaire Paupers is a three reel Rex drama with Grace Thompson, Gretchen Lederer, Arthur Shirley and Lou Chaney in the cast. The Imp Comedy, "By Return Male" is a riotous farce with Harry Mann in the lead. Tomorrow the seventh episode of the thrilling serial "Neal of the Navy," will be presented with Lillian Lorraine and William Courtleigh in the star parts.

"THE WONDERFUL ADVENTURE"—The World Film Corporation presents the two-part photoplay, "The Wonderful Adventure," based on the drama of the same name, by Frederick Arnold Kummer. Holbrook Blinn makes his second appearance for World Film in this picture, which gives him the opportunity of manifesting his remarkable abilities as an interpreter of minor roles.

Holbrook Blinn plays the part of an American detective in France, who is commissioned to recover a lost ivory snuff box, the property of the French Ambassador. He finds the box, which he receives his order to recover. Then Duval's adventures begin. Murder, mystery, espionage, and a counterplot, none too subtle, lead to Europe, perils on ships and a climactic finale in his final, himself in a sanitarium where horror of horrors he meets his young wife. They escape and the recovery of the snuff box permits Duval and his bride to continue their interrupted honeymoon.

Holbrook Blinn's part in this film is the proverbial glove. It is a great part in a powerful play. Alvin Brown, plays the part of Grace, the young bride. It is this charming actress best appearance in pictures, and she acquits herself with distinction.

Carrie Tourneur, the famous director, has produced a great photoplay in "The Wonderful Adventure," which will be shown at the Soisson Theatre Saturday.

IN MARVELOUS RESULTS OF THE NEW TONOLINE TABLETS IN MANY CASES OF RUN-DOWN MEN AND WOMEN.

Prove It Yourself by Buying a Box of Tonoline Tablets Now.

"My George, I never saw an thing like the effects of that new treatment, Tonoline Tablets, for a long time. I was weak and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine. I said a well known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. 'I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eatings, diets, milk, beer and almost everything else you could think of.'"

Any man or woman who is thin can recover normal weight by the use of Tonoline Tablets. Tonoline Tablets have been thin for years and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable success brought about by use of Tonoline Tablets so I decided to try myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just forty pounds during the last forty days and never felt stronger."

Tonoline Tablets are a powerful inducer to nutrition. Increases cell growth, food, increases the number of blood corpuscles and as a necessary result builds up muscles and solid healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness, the remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener. Tonoline Tablets cost $1 for a 16-day treatment, at doctors, or mail order by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.
